Excerpt: . . . merited upon the merits of the cause in the district court, and proposing, by persisting in the appeal, to further experiment upon the merits of the cause in the supreme court of the state, it lb not open to defendant to also experiment in this court upon the merits of the same cause. Under the facts disclosed upon the record, therefore, it must be held that this court has not jurisdiction of this cause, but that the same continues in the courts of the state. The plea to the jurisdiction is therefore sustained. Bischoffsheim v. Brown and others. (Circuit Court, S. D. New York. December 23, 1886.) 1. Discovery--Production Of Documents--Rev. St. U.
